Please do not get rid of the traffic and weather reports. Many truck drivers depend on this information. It is important that drivers get this info before they are close to a region that could be hazardous. For instance, a driver in California heading to Montana in the winter time can find out in advance what the roads in Montana are like as well as what the weather conditions are like, and can adjust his or her route accordingly.

If this service is eliminated the drivers would have to rely on reports close to where they are heading, and would have to wait until they are in transmission range of major cities. This could be hazardous to the driver and others around him or her.

Please keep this service going.
